

What do others think of the service?

“The experience of work whilst still at school has increased our student’s self-esteem, given them confidence to approach new challenges and has opened doors to their future.”

Jill Lockwood & Marie Newson, Denes High School, Lowestoft.

“This initiative has added a valuable dimension to our alternative curriculum. Without this opportunity and level of support, many of our disaffected young people would simply become the ‘disappeared’. In supporting the most vulnerable, this exciting development encourages young people to actively engage and invest in their own immediate future.”

Grant Westoby, Alternative Curriculum Coordinator, Kirkley High School, Lowestoft.

“Shaw Trust has worked with us for over four years. It has brought to our students the skills, understanding and ways of working that have been successfully developed working with disabled people. This made a difference.”

Carole Gumbley, Head of Shenley Court Specialist Arts College and Sixth Form Centre, Birmingham.
