

Your pathway to success

AWARDS...
Interwork Clients Jason Byron, left, and Bradley Dunstan were awarded a Certificate of Achievement at the recent Southern Flinders Business Awards.

Everyone deserves the right to contribute and prosper in the workplace - and working to ensure that happens locally is the team at Interwork Limited in Port Pirie.

Interwork provides employment programs, services and support to people who experience disability, or those who face barriers to accessing the open employment market.

Interwork is one of South Australia's largest employment service providers with over 18 offices throughout the State. As an Employment Service Provider, Interwork's goal is to assist job seekers to independence through employment.

The Interwork office in Port Pirie strives on providing quality service to the job seeker, to the employer and to the local community. As part of their service, the Interwork team matches job seekers to suitable employment vacancies. This also provides employers with solutions to their recruitment needs.

With committed and dedicated employees, the Interwork staff, provides support to those who may be challenged with physical or intellectual disabilities, or those who are wanting to returning to work after a long-term illness or injury.

Additionally, Interwork is actively engaging strategies specific for Youth and Aboriginal support services. Interwork focuses on what people can achieve and what a person's individual talents are to help get the job that's right for them. We provide assistance to prepare people with a disability for a career path that is suitable, achievable and sustainable.

Interwork is proud to have nominated two hardworking clients for in the recently held Southern Flinders Business Awards.

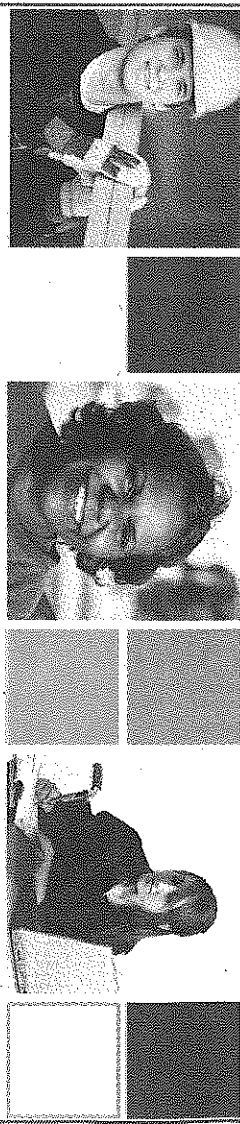

Congratulations to Jason and Bradley, who received a Certificate of Achievement.

Through the Apprenticeship and Traineeship programs offered by Interwork, Jason and Bradley have secured employment at Goode Road Deli and Take Away and Spencer Motors.

Ms Lee-Anne Cox, Interwork Area Manager for Port Pirie region, knows that Interwork is the right partner to help you find a job if you need some extra support.

"We are committed to finding work for those seeking to find a job. Our team works with local employers and find people for vacancies. We are determined to partner with job seekers and employers to achieve their goals."
